The November Advisory Committee met at the Grimm + Parker's office. The November meeting provided an opportunity for those who attended the bus tour to share what they learned from the trip.

The following takeaways from the bus tour were:

- We saw that mixed—income housing can work.
- Different types of units (townhouses, multi-family building) can work.
- The tour was eye-opening and gave a lot of useful information.

Following the discussion of the bus tour, the Advisory Committee divided into two groups and worked on plans that began to look at open spaces, streets, and how they relate to the buildings. This work regarding development of plans began to show the need for more detail of the location for open space. At the conclusion of this meeting, the Advisory Committee pointed out that they need to really understand the constraints that apply to the site.

Next Steps

- Design Team reviews the plans developed and outlines for December meeting some of the key concepts that frame the design.
